I. PURPOSE AND CHARACTER OF NOTICE

This instrument gives formal notice of the Declarants' asserted Indigenous, Aboriginal and Moor identity, claimed ancestral and hereditary title interests, historic public notice, and related documentary record. It is intended to preserve the source record and the propositions actually stated in that record.

This Notice distinguishes a published assertion from an adjudicated fact. Publication establishes that a notice was printed and publicly disseminated; it does not, by itself, constitute a judicial determination of the truth, acreage, tribal citizenship, chain of title, or legal effect of every proposition contained in the published notice.

II. NOTICE OF INDIGENOUS MOOR TITLE-HOLDER CLAIM

The Declarants give notice of their position that Indigenous Moors bearing or using the historic appellations and titles Il, El, Dey, Bey, Ali, and related forms are among the rightful title holders identified within their historical, ancestral, family, treaty, trust, and documentary record.

The Declarants further preserve the historical land-title proposition presented in the Gatty live-presentation materials concerning Indigenous/Moor title holders and territory exceeding one million square miles. That proposition is incorporated as a claim attributed to the presentation and shall be evaluated against the underlying grants, treaties, patents, surveys, judgments, maps, land records, and other primary sources attached or subsequently supplied as exhibits.

No numerical land-area statement in this Notice is represented as an adjudicated judgment merely because it appears in a presentation, publication, affidavit, or notice. The underlying source controls.

III. 2016 LOS ANGELES TIMES PUBLICATION RECORD

The Los Angeles Times Media Group proof of publication identifies Order No. 4341829 and states that a true and complete copy of the notice was printed and published in the Los Angeles Times. The billing record lists the Marketplace section and four Sunday run dates: July 24, July 31, August 7, and August 14, 2016.

The published notice states, in substance, that David Jr Hall and Monica Rene Hall had reached the age of majority, possessed authenticated documents, asserted due-process rights and status as "Indigenous Aboriginal Kemetic Muur" and "Registered Owner," reserved rights, and publicly announced the names/titles Priest Prince Ra Hotep and Priestess Princess Emilily Hotep.

Accordingly, this Notice uses the 2016 publication as evidence of the existence, timing, content, and public dissemination of those assertions. It does not characterize the newspaper itself as having adjudicated or independently certified the underlying nationality or land-title claims.

IV. TITLE, NAME, APPELLATION, AND CAPACITY

For purposes of this record, titles and appellations including Il, El, Dey, Bey, and Ali are preserved exactly as asserted or documented in the source materials. Their use in this Notice is not to be altered into an unrelated ideological classification, nor should similarity of vocabulary be treated as proof of affiliation with any movement.

Where a court order, governmental record, passport-related correspondence, tribal record, genealogy, trade-name record, trust instrument, or other document establishes a particular name or capacity, that source shall be identified separately in the exhibit index so that name, ancestry, citizenship, nationality, office, title, trust capacity, and property title are not improperly merged.

V. LAND, PROPERTY, AND TITLE RECORD

The Declarants preserve all claimed Aboriginal, Indigenous, hereditary, treaty, trust, equitable, beneficial, succession, and property interests that may be established by competent evidence. This includes claims reflected in the Gatty presentation and other historical materials, without waiver by omission from this Notice.

For every particular tract or territorial claim, the preferred evidentiary chain shall identify: the Indigenous nation or people; original instrument or recognized source; date; grantor and grantee where applicable; geographic description; survey or map; treaty or patent; succession or chain of title; later conveyances; and any judicial or administrative determination affecting the claimed interest.

VI. CONSTITUTIONAL, STATUTORY, UCC, TRUST, TREATY, AND INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITIES

The final authority schedule accompanying this Notice shall separately identify each constitutional provision, United States Code provision, state trust statute, Uniform Commercial Code provision, treaty, tribal authority, and international Indigenous-rights instrument relied upon, together with the exact proposition for which it is cited. Authorities will not be listed as though citation alone establishes a particular person's tribal citizenship, diplomatic immunity, ownership of a specific tract, or exemption from generally applicable law.

Authorities reserved for the schedule include, where factually applicable: the United States Constitution; federal Indian-law statutes including 25 U.S.C. provisions governing tribal lands and relations; UCC provisions including §§ 1-103 and 1-308 for their actual commercial-law functions; applicable state trust and property statutes; relevant Choctaw, Cherokee, Chickasaw and Blackfeet/Blackfoot treaties and instruments; the United States-Morocco Treaty of Peace and Friendship where a specific treaty proposition is implicated; UNDRIP; ADRIP; and other international instruments whose legal character and applicability are identified accurately.

VII. NO WAIVER; PRESERVATION AND CORRECTION OF RECORD

Nothing in this Notice is intended as a voluntary relinquishment of any otherwise existing legal, equitable, treaty, contractual, property, trust, inheritance, procedural, or constitutional right. Any reservation-of-rights provision is asserted only to the extent recognized by the law governing the transaction or proceeding in which it is invoked.

Any recipient maintaining a materially inconsistent characterization of the Declarants' identity, title, ancestry, nationality, affiliation, capacity, or property interest is requested to preserve and identify the source, author, date, database field, underlying evidence, modification history, and dissemination record supporting that characterization, to the extent lawfully obtainable.

VIII. EVIDENTIARY CLASSIFICATION

The record shall classify exhibits as: (A) governmental or court record; (B) newspaper proof of publication; (C) personal declaration or affidavit; (D) genealogical or tribal evidence; (E) treaty, statute, regulation, constitution, or reported judicial authority; (F) historical secondary source or live presentation; and (G) pending corroboration. This classification is intended to prevent a secondary source or personal assertion from being represented as a primary governmental adjudication.

IX. DECLARATION

We affirm that the statements concerning our own identity, names, asserted ancestry, affiliations, capacities, and the documents personally known to us are made from our knowledge and records. Historical, territorial, treaty, and legal propositions are preserved according to their cited sources and should be evaluated from those sources. Nothing herein is intended to convert a disputed historical proposition into an adjudicated fact merely by declaration.

NOTICE AND MEMORANDUM OF IDENTITY, TRADE-NAME, PARTY-CAPACITY, PROPERTY, AND COLOR-OF-LAW ISSUES

Misdesignation of Business/Trade Names as Personal "Aliases"; Wrong-Debtor and Wrong-Property Concerns; Constitutional, Statutory, Treaty-Reservation, and Record-Preservation Notice

Record Purpose	Notice, preservation, identity/capacity reconciliation, and demand for documentary explanation
Primary Issue	Use of business, trade, stage, or commercial names as alleged personal aliases without a demonstrated factual/legal basis
Related Concerns	Wrong debtor; wrong party; wrong property; defective pleading/service; execution or levy beyond the judgment debtor
Claim / Record Reference	OTH-25 [ALMC]OTH22/856043; Foreign Judgment Ref. TC20610; Consular Court File CS0403162

I. PURPOSE AND LIMITED CHARACTER OF THIS NOTICE

This memorandum preserves and presents a specific identity-and-capacity issue: whether a litigant, attorney, court actor, collector, creditor, constable, sheriff, or other participant treated a business name, trade name, stage name, pseudonym, or commercial designation as though it were merely a personal "alias," and then used that characterization to impose personal liability, obtain judgment, execute process, or reach property without first establishing the identity of the actual obligor and owner.

This document does not declare criminal guilt or independently adjudicate a constitutional or treaty violation. It identifies potentially actionable defects and demands that the underlying pleadings, contracts, service records, judgments, writs, levy records, ownership records, and governmental participation be reconciled before any conclusion is drawn.

II. SOURCE RECORD AND COPYRIGHT CLARIFICATION

The supplied September 9, 2026 copyright notice identifies CopyrightDepot records numbered 00076336-1 and 00068508-1, including a record described as "Ownership of title and name in any spelling" and a business-communication record associated with Prince Ra Hotep El. The same supplied notice expressly states that it does not claim exclusive copyright ownership of facts, names, titles, ideas, concepts, historical information, public records, or other non-copyrightable material.

Accordingly, this memorandum does not make copyright in a name the primary legal theory. Under U.S. Copyright Office guidance, names, titles, business names, pseudonyms, stage names, and short phrases are not protected by copyright merely as names. Copyright may protect qualifying original expression embodied in communications, artwork, designs, photographs, recordings, or other works, but the identity/capacity problem addressed here stands independently of copyright.

III. TRADE NAME IS NOT THE SAME THING AS PERSONAL ALIAS

Nevada law expressly recognizes business conducted under an assumed or fictitious name. NRS Chapter 602 requires a certificate when a person conducts business under an assumed or fictitious name different from the legal name of each person owning an interest. The certificate identifies both the assumed/fictitious name and the natural person, artificial person, partnership, trust, or other owner/operator.

That statutory structure matters. A business designation may identify the name under which a person or entity conducts business, but it does not automatically establish that every obligation associated with that designation is the personal obligation of a natural person. The operative questions are who contracted, in what capacity, what entity or person incurred the obligation, whether any personal guarantee exists, and whose property is legally subject to execution.

IV. WRONG-PARTY / WRONG-DEBTOR / WRONG-PROPERTY ANALYSIS

1. Pleading identity. The complaint and summons should identify the actual defendant and the factual basis for any "a/k/a," "d/b/a," trade-name, or alter-ego allegation.

2. Contracting capacity. The underlying agreement should establish whether the signer acted individually, as trustee, officer, manager, proprietor, representative, or on behalf of a separate entity.

3. Liability bridge. If a plaintiff seeks to move from a business obligation to personal liability, the record should disclose the legal and factual basis for that move, including any personal guarantee or other recognized basis.

4. Judgment identity. The judgment should be compared with the complaint, service record, and contract to determine exactly against whom judgment was entered.

5. Execution identity. A writ or levy should not be treated as authority to seize property of a person or entity that is not actually the judgment debtor merely because a trade or business name was characterized as an "alias."

6. Ownership. Before property is taken, the record should identify the owner of the targeted asset and the legal basis for treating that asset as property of the judgment debtor.

V. NEVADA PROCEDURAL CONSEQUENCES

Nevada Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) permits relief from a final judgment or order for specified grounds including fraud, misrepresentation or misconduct, and where the judgment is void. Which provision applies depends on the actual docket, service, timing, party identity, and judgment. The existence of a misnomer alone does not automatically void a judgment; the material issue is whether the error affected identity, service, notice, jurisdiction, liability, or execution against a non-debtor.

NRS 602.060 further provides that certified assumed/fictitious-name certificates and register entries are prima facie evidence of the facts stated in them. Such records can therefore be used to test whether a name appearing in litigation was a business designation, who was identified as conducting the business, and whether the litigation caption accurately reflected the relevant legal capacity.

VI. CONSTITUTIONAL AND COLOR-OF-LAW ISSUES

The Nevada Constitution protects acquiring, possessing, and protecting property and provides that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. It also protects against unreasonable searches and seizures and preserves speech and petition rights. If state process was used to take property from a non-debtor, or if a governmental actor knowingly used materially false identity/capacity information to cause a deprivation, those facts may implicate Nevada constitutional protections.

At the federal level, 42 U.S.C. § 1983 provides a civil remedy when a person acting under color of state law causes the deprivation of rights secured by the Constitution or federal law. Private attorneys and creditors are not automatically state actors merely because they litigate in court. State-action analysis is fact-specific. Governmental participation, joint action, or use of state-created seizure procedures can matter, and the Supreme Court's decision in Lugar v. Edmondson Oil Co. illustrates that the use of state attachment procedures with official participation can present a color-of-state-law question.

18 U.S.C. § 242 is a federal criminal statute concerning willful deprivation of protected rights under color of law. This notice does not purport to prosecute or establish a § 242 offense; criminal charging authority belongs to the government. The statute is identified only as a preservation and referral issue if competent evidence establishes willful official misconduct.

VII. FEDERAL CONSTITUTIONAL RESERVATIONS

The submitting parties preserve applicable First Amendment petition/speech theories, Fourth Amendment seizure theories where governmental seizure is implicated, Fifth Amendment protections to the extent federal actors or federal action are actually involved, and Article VI Supremacy Clause issues where a valid federal law or treaty is shown to govern the particular conduct. No provision is invoked merely by label; each theory requires a factual and legal nexus to the actor and event at issue.

VIII. TREATY RESERVATION - NO AUTOMATIC IMMUNITY CLAIM

The record also preserves reliance on the Treaty of Peace and Friendship between the United States and Morocco. The 1836 treaty is an authentic treaty text in the United States Statutes at Large. This memorandum does not state that the treaty automatically exempts an individual, trust, business, or property located in Nevada from generally applicable Nevada law, nor does it state that the treaty automatically creates immunity from civil process. Any treaty-based claim must identify the particular treaty article, the protected person or capacity, the conduct at issue, and why the provision applies to that conduct. Article VI of the U.S. Constitution makes treaties part of the supreme law only within their lawful scope and application.

IX. RECORD FINDINGS TO BE TESTED

Where the record shows that a business or trade designation was inserted into a caption as “a/k/a” or otherwise treated as a personal alias, the following must be established from competent evidence before that characterization is used to impose liability or reach property:

• the exact legal person or entity alleged to owe the obligation;

• the source document creating the obligation and the capacity in which it was signed;

• the factual basis for each alleged alias, DBA, trade-name, alter-ego, successor, or agency relationship;

• the service of process upon the actual party against whom relief was sought;

• the exact identity of the judgment debtor;

• the ownership of each asset targeted by execution, attachment, restitution, foreclosure, or levy; and

• the identity and role of every governmental officer or private actor participating in the seizure or transfer.

X. DEMAND FOR IDENTITY AND CAPACITY RECONCILIATION

The recipients are requested to preserve and produce, or identify the custodian of, all caption histories, complaints, amended complaints, summonses, proofs of service, contracts, guarantees, DBA/fictitious-name records, entity records, trust records, title records, judgments, writs, levy instructions, execution returns, internal attorney notes, communications with constables/sheriffs/court staff, and electronic audit history reflecting when and why any trade/business name was characterized as a personal alias.

If the record does not establish the asserted identity bridge, the submitting parties demand correction of the record and cessation of any continued reliance on an unsupported alias characterization. If property belonging to a person or entity other than the actual judgment debtor was reached, the recipients are requested to identify the legal authority relied upon and the procedure available for return, release, correction, vacatur, or other appropriate relief.

XI. PRESERVATION OF CLAIMS; NO PREJUDGMENT OF LIABILITY

All claims and defenses are reserved. This notice is intended to force precision: name, entity, capacity, contract, service, judgment, property, and state participation must be proved rather than assumed. It does not convert a private business dispute into a constitutional claim by declaration, and it does not treat a copyright-deposit record as proof of exclusive ownership of a name. It preserves the stronger issue: whether legal process was used against the wrong person, wrong capacity, or wrong property, and whether any governmental participation in that process deprived a protected person or entity of rights without lawful authority.

HOUSE OF JUDAH CONSULAR COURT TRIBUNAL XIII

NOTICE AND FINDING OF FALSE IDENTITY ASSOCIATION, ERRONEOUS ALIAS ATTRIBUTION, NAME CONFLATION, AND CONTINUING VOID-AB-INITIO RECORD

SOURCE-PROVENANCE • IDENTITY/CAPACITY RECONCILIATION • RECORD CORRECTION • PRESERVATION

Claim / Record Reference	OTH-25 [ALMC]OTH22/856043
Foreign Judgment Reference	TC20610
Consular Court File	CS0403162
Related Appellate Proceeding	U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, Case No. 22-70183 - Petition for Writ of Mandamus
Subject	Identity association, alleged alias attribution, source provenance, record correction, and continuing Consular Court void-ab-initio determination

I. PURPOSE OF NOTICE

This Notice combines and preserves two related matters within the House of Judah Consular Court record: (1) the asserted false association or conflation of Prince Ra Hotep El with another person, including Yusef Hotep-El, and the disputed attribution of labels or aliases to Prince Ra Hotep El; and (2) the Consular Court's continuing void-ab-initio determination concerning the challenged proceedings identified in its record.

This Notice is intended to preserve identity, source, chronology, capacity, and record-integrity issues and to require the documentary basis for any disputed identity association. It does not represent that a Nevada state court, federal court, Google, or any third-party publisher has adopted the House of Judah Consular Court's determinations.

II. DISTINCT PERSONS - NO UNPROVEN IDENTITY CONFLATION

The submitting parties maintain that Prince Ra Hotep El and Yusef Hotep-El are separate persons. The record shall not treat similarity in words, appellations, spelling, punctuation, hyphenation, search terms, metadata, or automated indexing as proof that the two persons are the same individual.

The submitting parties further maintain that Prince Ra Hotep El is the lawful name used by that individual and that business, trade, stage, commercial, trust, estate, or other capacity names must be identified according to the person or entity to which each actually belongs. A business or trade designation should not be converted into an alleged personal alias without a competent factual and legal basis.

III. DISPUTED SEARCH, COURT-WEBSITE, AND DATABASE ASSOCIATIONS

Where a Google search result, court-indexing page, legal-information website, governmental record, or other database associated Prince Ra Hotep El with Yusef Hotep-El, criminal-history material belonging to another person, or the disputed characterization 'sovereign citizen,' the submitting parties demand identification of the source from which that association originated. The existence and exact presentation of each disputed association shall be established by the preserved screenshot, URL, docket entry, search result, communication, metadata, or other competent exhibit.

IV. SOURCE-PROVENANCE AND AUDIT-TRAIL DEMAND

For every challenged identity association or alias characterization, the responsible recipient or records custodian is requested to identify, to the extent maintained and lawfully producible: the originating source; author or submitting party; originating agency or publisher; date created; date modified; database field or alias field; indexing terms; source URL or docket source; transmission or republication history; correction history; and the identity of any system or recipient to which the characterization was transmitted.

If no competent source establishes that Prince Ra Hotep El is Yusef Hotep-El, or establishes a particular alleged alias or identity relationship, the submitting parties demand segregation and correction of the identities in the applicable records, while preserving the historical audit trail showing what was previously displayed, transmitted, indexed, or recorded.

V. COPYRIGHT / BUSINESS-RECORD DISTINCTION

The supporting copyright-deposit and business-communication materials may be maintained as identity, authorship, chronology, and business-record exhibits. This Notice does not depend upon the proposition that a personal name, title, stage name, or trade name is itself protected by copyright. The principal issue here is attribution: whether one person's identity, criminal history, characterization, or alleged aliases were improperly attributed to another person, and whether business or trade names were incorrectly treated as personal aliases in litigation or public records.

VI. CONSULAR COURT VOID-AB-INITIO DETERMINATION

The House of Judah Consular Court Tribunal XIII determined, within its own proceeding and record, that the challenged proceedings identified in that record were VOID AB INITIO. The Consular Court record states that this determination originated within the Consular Court proceeding and was subsequently filed for notice and record in September 2022 with the Eighth Judicial District Court and the United States District Court for the District of Nevada.

The House of Judah Consular Court therefore continues to preserve and treat proceedings flowing from the challenged acts as void ab initio within its own adjudicative record and procedural position.

VII. EFFECT OF SUBSEQUENT FILING - EXPRESS LIMITATION

The subsequent filing, receipt, docketing, service, or possession of the Consular Court determination by another court or governmental body establishes the notice, filing, service, possession, and chronology reflected by the competent record. It does not, standing alone, establish that the receiving Nevada or federal court authored, adopted, enforced, or independently adjudicated the merits of the Consular Court's void-ab-initio determination.

Accordingly, this Notice does not state that every Nevada or federal judgment has independently been declared void by the receiving courts. It states the narrower and exact record proposition: the House of Judah Consular Court made and continues its own void-ab-initio determination; the determination was later filed and served as reflected in the preserved record; and the Consular Court continues to maintain that position.

VIII. CONNECTION BETWEEN IDENTITY DEFECTS AND THE CHALLENGED PROCEEDINGS

The identity issue is material to the continuing record because a proceeding may depend upon accurate identification of the party, legal capacity, debtor, trust, estate, business, property owner, person served, and person against whom relief or execution is sought. The submitting parties therefore preserve for review whether any false identity association, unsupported alias designation, trade-name conflation, wrong-party designation, or misattribution affected pleading, service, notice, liability, judgment, execution, publication, indexing, or subsequent governmental action.

No causal conclusion is established merely by similarity of names or by the existence of an inaccurate search result. The connection must be tested against the underlying pleadings, service records, judgments, writs, database records, screenshots, audit history, communications, and other competent evidence.

IX. RECORD CORRECTION AND PRESERVATION DEMAND

All recipients are requested to preserve records concerning the disputed identities, alleged aliases, search/indexing terms, court captions, docket metadata, party rosters, classification fields, communications, corrections, removals, and republications. Where an association is unsupported or inaccurate, the submitting parties request correction sufficient to prevent continuing misidentification, together with preservation of the pre-correction record and audit history.

X. FORMAL NOTICE OF CONTINUING POSITION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the House of Judah Consular Court record continues to distinguish Prince Ra Hotep El from unrelated persons and disputed alias classifications; continues to demand the documentary source for any contrary association; and continues to preserve its previously entered void-ab-initio determination as the Consular Court's own adjudicative and procedural position.

Nothing herein attributes that determination to the Ninth Circuit, the Eighth Judicial District Court, the United States District Court for the District of Nevada, Google, or any other receiving institution unless a separate competent order or record from that institution independently establishes such adoption or adjudication.

XI. PROCEDURAL RELIEF - VACATUR AND QUASHING OF DERIVATIVE PROCESS

Where an independently recognized court judgment or default is challenged as void for lack of jurisdiction, defective service, denial of legally required notice, or another defect rendering the judgment void, the submitting parties preserve the right to file the appropriate procedural motion for relief from judgment, including Rule 60(b)(4) or the applicable state-court equivalent.

The requested relief may include: (1) vacatur of any judgment or default proven void; (2) quashing or recalling writs, executions, levies, restitution orders, garnishments, or other enforcement process whose validity depends upon that void judgment; (3) correction of party, identity, capacity, and debtor records; (4) release or return of property where authorized; and (5) such additional relief as the issuing court has authority to grant.

A voidness determination should be tied to the particular judgment and demonstrated jurisdictional or due-process defect; it should not be presumed solely from an incorrect trade name, disputed alias, or the House of Judah Consular Court's separate void-ab-initio determination. This procedural section therefore preserves the mechanism by which the issuing Nevada or federal court may be asked to address its own judgment while maintaining the separate House of Judah Consular Court record and determination.

XII. RESERVATION

All rights, claims, defenses, remedies, objections, correction requests, preservation demands, and evidentiary positions are reserved. This Notice supplements the existing House of Judah Consular Court record and is intended to preserve rather than mischaracterize the source, scope, or legal effect of any determination contained therein.

NOTICE • IDENTITY SEPARATION • SOURCE PROVENANCE • RECORD CORRECTION • VOID-AB-INITIO RECORD PRESERVATION

TREATY WITH MOROCCO.(a)

In the name of God, the merciful and clement!

Emperor's seal. Abd Errahman Ibenu Kesham, whom God exalt!

Praise be to God!

This is the copy of the Treaty of Peace which we have made with the Americans and written in this book; affixing thereto our blessed seal, that, with the help of God, it may remain firm forever.

Mutual agreement of the parties to the treaty.

Art. 1. We declare that both parties have agreed that this treaty, consisting of twenty-five articles, shall be inserted in this book, and delivered to James R. Leib, agent of the United States, and now their resident consul at Tangier, with whose approbation it has been made, and who is duly authorized on their part, to treat with us, concerning all the matters contained therein.

Neither party to take commissions from an enemy.

Persons, &c. of one party, captured in an enemy's vessel, to be released.

Art. 3. If either of the parties shall be at war with any nation whatever, and take a prize belonging to that nation, and there shall be found on board subjects or effects belonging to either of the parties, the subjects shall be set at liberty, and the effects returned to the owners.
